

Clara Rojas was born in Valencia, Venezuela. She obtained her Physics degree at the Universidad de Carabobo in Valencia, Venezuela in 2001. Then she attended IVIC, Venezuela on a grant from FONACIT, and obtained his Ph.D in Physics in 2007. In 2008, she became a postdoc at IVIC for three years to reach in 2011 an Associate Research position at Center of Interdisciplinary Studies of Physics. Since September 2017 professor Clara Rojas is working in Yachay TECH University in the School of Physical Sciences and Nanotechnology teaching several courses of theoretical physics and making research in Inflationary Cosmology and Relativistic Quantum Mechanics. Currently she is Full-Time Added Professor 1.

<https://scholar.google.com/citations?user=BJy4JBUAAAAJ&hl=en>